AUTISM SPECTRUM AND DEVELOPMENTAL DISORDERS RESOURCE CENTER

Individuals within the autistic spectrum of developmental disorders often face a variety of unique mental health challenges throughout their lifetime. It can be confusing for parents and families to know how to locate the essential services, or even how to identify the services that their child, adolescent, or young adult needs.

The Autism Spectrum and Developmental Disorders Resource Center can assist families through this confusing and sometimes frustrating process. Our expert Clinical Navigator of the Resource Center works with individuals and families to help assess their needs, and facilitate a triage of those vital services. The Autism Spectrum and Developmental Disorders Resource Center is made available to families in our community through the generosity of our individual and corporate partners.
